GREEN PLANET

Wednesdays at 7:00pm

Sir David Attenborough returns to public television this month in a breathtaking new five-part series exploring Earth's biodiversity told through the fascinating story of plants. As Attenborough explains: "Every mouthful of food that we eat, every lungful of air that we breathe depends on plants." Using pioneering new filmmaking technology and the latest science, THE GREEN PLANET takes viewers from the deepest jungles to the harshest deserts, revealing the strange and wonderful world of plants as never before. Living secret, unseen lives, plants are often overlooked, yet they are as aggressive, competitive and dramatic as animals — locked in life-and-death struggles for food and light, taking part in fierce battles for territory and desperately trying to reproduce and scatter their young.

In the series, Sir David travels the globe, from deserts to mountains, from rainforests to the frozen north, to present a fresh understanding of how plants live their lives. He meets the largest living things that have ever existed, trees that care for each other, plants that hunt animals, and plants that breed so fast they could cover the planet in a matter of months. He finds time-travelers — seeds that can outlive civilizations and plants that remain unchanged for decades. By examining our relationship with plants past, present and future, THE GREEN PLANET reveals how all animal life, including ours, is totally dependent on plants.

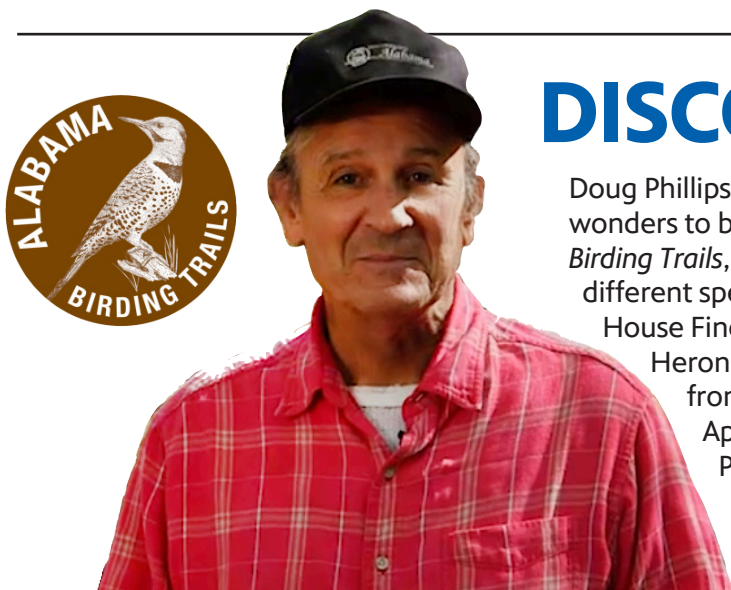

AMERICA OUTDOORS

Also premiering this month comes a new appreciation of America's wild and scenic places, AMERICA OUTDOORS WITH BARATUNDE THURSTON. New York Times best-selling author, podcast creator and outdoor enthusiast, Baratunde Thurston, leads viewers on an adventure-filled journey to explore the diverse array of regions across the U.S. and how those landscapes shape the way Americans work, play and interact with the outdoors. From wilderness pilots flying "below the rim" in Idaho to coal miners turned beekeepers in Appalachia to Black surfers catching waves in Los Angeles, Baratunde introduces viewers to a vivid cast of characters whose outdoor lives are shaped by where they live. AMERICA OUTDOORS reveals a deeper understanding of our passionate yet complicated relationship with the outdoors.

DISCOVERING ALABAMA

Doug Phillips brings us an appreciation of Alabama's outdoors and the wonders to be found here in a new DISCOVERING ALABAMA, Alabama Birding Trails, premiering Thursday, July 7 at 8:00pm. More than 430 different species of birds have been spotted in Alabama, ranging from House Finches and Pine Warblers to Bald Eagles and Great Blue Herons. The Alabama Birding Trails includes some 280 sites ranging from the mountains to the gulf, divided into 8 regions: Appalachian Highlands, Black Belt, Coastal, North Alabama, Piedmont Plateau, Piney Woods, West Alabama and Wiregrass. Doug Phillips highlights the best public locations available to watch birds in Alabama year-round.
